Report on the Monroe Homicides

Chicago, Oct. 21.—An official report of Captain [illegible], commanding officer of the 16th Infantry, [illegible] at Monroe, La., is made under date of October 9th, and details the circumstances of the recent [illegible] in that vicinity. He reports that on the [illegible], eight miles above Monroe, Thomas Johnson, a preacher, was shot and instantly killed, and Longwood, also colored, badly wounded, at the hands of disguised white men. Johnson was shot while holding his infant in his arms, and was hauling cotton in his wagon. The whites advanced and rested their guns over the fence, aiming at their victims with [illegible]. [illegible] to escape, but received a charge of buck[illegible] and died almost instantly. Physicians living in the vicinity refused to visit Longwood. [illegible] starting for a Monroe doctor, was stopped by mounted whites, searched, questioned [illegible] if he was going for a physician [illegible] he could not proceed. He finally [illegible] and reached Monroe, but could not [illegible] physicians to go out. John Dinkgrave, [illegible] marshal and attorney at law, [illegible] in company with him. At the request [illegible] in the afternoon the commanding [illegible], by the advice of the district attorney, sent a [illegible] of 6 men with him to obtain Longwood's [illegible]. He found at large crowd of [illegible] negroes at the house. Longwood made [illegible] duly sworn to, and the above is from the testimony of the wives of the [illegible], both of whom witnessed the shooting. [illegible] four men were left at the house. It is [illegible] possible that Longwood may recover. [illegible] the person who shot him is Robert Lo[illegible], a white man and a plantation owner living at [illegible] Dr. Hori and one of his neighbors. He [illegible] Wm. F. [illegible], a white planter who [illegible] and a captain of a Democratic rifle [illegible], [illegible] repeatedly threatened his life and the [illegible] the same thing. Longwood and [illegible] were too late men and each owned a [illegible] and were making good crops. By joint [illegible] had erected a school house for colored [illegible] near their house, which was set on fire and [illegible] destroyed a short time ago. [illegible] a strong, influential Republican, especially [illegible] to the resident Democrats. The [illegible] concludes as follows: In my opinion no efforts will be made by the civil authorities to investigate the matter or apprehend the murderers. The judge of the State and district court is a time serving man, desirous of adapting [illegible] to the change in the political condition of the State and of his judicial district. The sheriff [illegible] is a fugitive, and his deputies are [illegible]effective. The U. S. commissioner, Judge [illegible], also parish judge, is indifferent. The U. S. marshal, John Dinkgrave, is a coward and worthless for the performance of any duties [illegible] to his position. The district attorney [illegible] is the only one that is working to vindicate the law and trying to bring the murderers to [illegible]

Assassination.

[illegible] Oct. 22.—The New Orleans special to the Bulletin states that N. J. Law was murdered [illegible], Saturday, while riding out. He was fired upon and mortally wounded. E. S. Hayes [illegible] killed. No clue as yet.

[illegible] of Affairs in South Carolina.

[illegible], S. C. Oct. 23.—Troops are arriving. Thirteen companies are now in Columbia and [illegible] four in other parts of the State. Everything is perfectly quiet throughout the State. Af[illegible] affirming peace and submission to law are [illegible] daily. The political campaign is conducted vigorously by both parties. The so-called [illegible] have all disbanded. The colored militia [illegible]

[illegible] Oct. 23.—Capt. Lloyd, U. S. army, [illegible] to the scene of disturbance, has [illegible] to army headquarters regarding his investigation. On arrival at Rouse's bridge the captain [illegible] a body of 300 mounted men under [illegible] of A. P. Butler, who had thrown out [illegible] surrounding the negroes, and adds [illegible] undoubted evidence of a well digested [illegible], which if carried out would have resulted in the slaughter of nearly all the negroes in the [illegible]. The presence of the troops brought about [illegible] by which both the armed whites and [illegible]. On the march from Rouse's [illegible] to Allentown the bodies of three negroes who had been killed were found, and information [illegible] that five others also had been murdered [illegible] man had been killed. The negroes were [illegible] cowed and are afraid to leave their hid[illegible] in the woods and return to their work [illegible] of being shot down in the cotton fields. [illegible] sent down Barnwell road [illegible] body of twenty or thirty whites who stated they were a detachment of Gen. Hayward's [illegible], under orders from Judge Wiggins to disarm the negroes and also to protect a party of negroes while burying the colored member of the legislature who had been shot near El[illegible]. The report estimates the total number engaged in riots at not less than 800, composed of [illegible] Georgia and Edgefield, Aiken and Barnwell, S. C. The Port Royal railroad, which had been torn up, was repaired under the protection of [illegible] whites. The men had previously been [illegible] to work on the road.

[illegible] at Pimlico Track Postponed.

[illegible], Oct. 23.—The running races have [illegible] until Wednesday. The executive [illegible] of the Maryland Jockey Club offer to [illegible] of Tom Ochiltree and Tenbroeck, in the [illegible] of their agreeing to run those horses in a four miles on an extra day at the spring [illegible] of 1877 at Pimlico, to pay them respect[illegible], to defray their traveling expenses and [illegible] with the winner of that event the gate and stand receipts of the day. The rules and [illegible] of the Maryland Jockey Club to govern the [illegible]

Corrupt Registration.

The [illegible] says continued investigation shows [illegible] have been made for illegal registration and naturalization on a large scale. Common [illegible] and disreputable persons have been [illegible] from impoverished lodging houses, [illegible] halls, saloons, canal boats or private [illegible]. Men have registered under names of [illegible]. Minors have sworn falsely to their age. [illegible] of Centennial visitors stopping perhaps a day at hotels of the low class have been [illegible] by [illegible] registers. The records of the [illegible] show that the number of naturalized papers [illegible] is increasing every week.

The [illegible] however says our friends in the interior of the State express a good deal of alarm [illegible] votes of New York and Brooklyn [illegible] render abortive all their efforts to elect the [illegible] ticket. We assure all such despondent [illegible] that the registration list of these two [illegible] will be subjected to the most searching scrutiny, and that most thorough preparation will be [illegible] to keep it within its legal dimensions. The [illegible] system of registry which has been [illegible] for this city is one of the most perfect [illegible] has ever been applied, and by election day [illegible] at least nine tenths of the persons who have registered illegally will be in proper [illegible] proper action.

New York, Oct. 24.—The total registrations for [illegible] 85,267, being 3,000 in excess of 18[illegible]

Political.

[illegible] are being steadily made by [illegible]. Last night the most important nomination was that of S. J. Strastney, a prominent [illegible] of that city, as Congressman for the [illegible] N. J. district.

[illegible] from Blanton Duncan

[illegible] Blanton, of the New York State greenback [illegible], has received a letter in this city yesterday from Col. Blanton Duncan, of which the following are extracts: I have not changed my opinion that Hayes will now sweep every Northern State and will carry also North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Mississippi and Louisiana. We can view the election of Hayes complacently, for it will render sure the utter break down of the [illegible] who have ruined the old organization for 12 years. If Tilden should be elected our [illegible] could never be made, and his administration would be so startling and corrupt that the people [illegible] hurl his gang from power to reinstate the Radicals for 20 years.

Political Prospects in North Carolina

New York, Oct. 24.—The Times correspondent in North Carolina says: After a careful study I believe the Republicans will make large gains in the popular vote and in Congressmen. The largest vote ever cast is promised.

[illegible]kles Nominated for Congress

New York, Oct. 24.—The Republicans in the 9th [illegible] last night nominated Sickles for Congress. The [illegible] Club has withdrawn its co-operation with the Independent Republicans.

[illegible] E. Thorn Abandons the Independents

[illegible] E. Thorn has written a letter to the [illegible] Republican central committee resigning the position of president of that body and [illegible] his connection with the Independent [illegible]. He states as a reason for this action that the organization has been perverted from its original purpose and has fallen under influence [illegible] to the Republican party and the success of [illegible]. He declares his firm belief that the [illegible], if not the existence, of the Union [illegible] on the election of Hayes and Wheeler, and that insidious Democratic influence and personal schemes are now controlling [illegible] that organization.

[illegible] of Railroad Engineers and Firemen.

New York, Oct. 23.—The engineers and firemen of the N. J. Central railroad struck work at 1 [illegible] to-night wherever the trains happened to be. The engineers dumped the fires and the men left the engines. The consequence is that all traffic on the road is stopped, and many trains en route [illegible]

New York, Oct. 24.—The Times, speaking of the [illegible] engineers, says the cause of the strike is [illegible] from a very good source to be the desire [illegible] to compel payment for work over [illegible]. They have been compelled recently [illegible] more hours than heretofore, it is said, [illegible] to be recompensed for doing so.

Supervisors of Election Wanted

[illegible] a petition signed by [illegible] prominent citizens was [illegible] under the United States [illegible] was received by Judge [illegible] with [illegible] to make the appointment. Several names of the [illegible] were examined with a view of having suggestions from them.

[illegible] franchise here had [illegible] privileges for the [illegible]. He was said that the [illegible] [illegible] the judge [illegible] until the [illegible] day.

The U. S. Circuit court to-day ordered the Mis[illegible] to be turned [illegible] and that a [illegible] for the property be given him [illegible] master in chancery.

Bank Teller Absconded.

New York, Oct. 24.—Thos. [illegible], paying teller of the Park National Bank, has absconded, taking with him $80,000 of the bank's funds.

Railway Accident.

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Through some mistake in the running of the Centennial [illegible] three [illegible] last night, [illegible] was that one passenger was killed, six seriously wounded and a number slightly. Fifteen hundred passengers were on board.

WASHINGTON CITY

Democratic Success Fatal to the New Loan

Chicago, Oct. 24.—The Tribune's Washington special says: Secretary Morrill is decided in the expression of opinion that a change of administration would seriously retard all present attempts to complete the new loan. He has information on this subject from leading European [illegible] circles, especially from prominent representatives of the syndicate interests. None of the specials in the Republican press have exaggerated the gravity of the situation. Letters from persons as well acquainted with the facts of the case as [illegible] himself say he deliberately mistakes the situation.

Situation at the South.

It is expected the cabinet meeting to-morrow will discuss the situation at the South. Some of the most significant reports, many of them of a private character, have reached the government, which call for grave consideration. The official statements about Louisiana will be given to the press to-night. Positive information is received that armed and mounted bodies of men from Georgia are riding through South Carolina, intimidating the colored voters by threats and actual outrages. They are armed, drilled and in all respects a rebel cavalry. They ride in connection with what are apparently organized companies of Wade Hampton's cavalry with their officers. Some of these organizations have also appeared in some parts of North Carolina doing similar work as in South Carolina.

Troops for Louisiana

Chicago, Oct. 21.—The Times' Washington special says Senator West has arrived from Louisiana in company with Secretary Morrill and Secretary Chandler, and has had an interview with Don Cameron. The object of the conference was to secure an order for a large transfer of troops to Louisiana, as has been done in South Carolina. West thinks the State can be carried for Hayes if several thousand soldiers can be sent to that State to work with the deputy marshals in controlling the election. On West's representations Chandler advised that a similar order be issued as in the case of South Carolina. An early report of outrages in Louisiana is expected so as to form the basis for a proclamation and the transfer of troops. It is expected the troops needed will be taken from Sheridan's department. A similar formality will be observed in Mississippi as soon as this Louisiana matter is disposed of. The administration hopes by this use of soldiers to carry three States of the South and to make good possible losses in the North.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

London, Oct. 23.—A dispatch from Bucharest says: Roumania has resolved upon declaring her independence. The government relinquishes all claim upon European powers. A proclamation is about to be issued proclaiming Prince Charles King of Roumania. The army will be mobilized and paper currency issued. This dispatch creates great excitement. It is generally considered here that this action by Roumania will retard and perhaps break off entirely the negotiations for peace.

London, Oct. 24.—The council previously announced was held by the Queen at Balmoral to-day. Parliament was further prorogued from Oct. 30th until Dec. 2.

London, Oct. 24.—A dispatch to the Standard from [illegible] says there was no fighting on Sunday. The Turks have advanced their headquarters five miles. The storming of a fortified mountain over which the highway to Krushevatz runs is still to be done.

The Standard's Belgrade correspondent represents that unparalleled distress prevails in [illegible] and throughout Servia. Unless peace is speedily proclaimed the country will be utterly ruined. There is no suffering in Belgrade, but in the interior thousands of persons are starving. The majority of the soldiers are wearing their summer uniforms and have no blankets. There are 18,000 Bulgarian and Bosnian refugees in Servia. The same correspondent reports that Russian diplomatists say Gen. Ignatieff has been instructed to inform the Sultan that Russia makes English proposals hers, with additional guarantees. If the Porte rejects them intervention will be begun simultaneously by Russia, Greece and [illegible]

London, Oct. 23.—In a semi-official statement the Post announces that the Porte accepts the six weeks armistice, suggesting a further prolongation of six weeks if at the conclusion of the first six deliberations are incomplete, and if at the end of twelve weeks no settlement is reached that there be a further armistice of two months. Reuter's telegrams confirm this statement precisely, except as to the proposals for the prolongation of the armistice, which they say are made as conditions, not as suggestions.

The Post denies that Russia has sent an ultimatum. The Ottoman government has not been summoned to subject itself to commission enforced by an armed force. It is to be hoped that the powers which are in direct negotiations may come to a speedy understanding. England, while having withdrawn from interference, will resent any infraction of the stipulations of the treaty of Paris.

Reuter's telegram from Constantinople announces that Gen. Ignatieff will have a private audience with the Sultan to-day.

A Times dispatch from Berlin also says the Porte is ready to grant Russia's latest demands, provided the integrity of the Ottoman empire is guaranteed.

A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from St. Petersburg states that Lord Loftus has no diplomatic mission at Livadia. The Czar prolongs his stay there until December, therefore the ordinary conduct of political business is transferred to Livadia.

London, Oct. 23.—A special to the Daily News from Pertsch says the Russians believe if the Turks take Krushevatz Russia will make an armed intervention.

From Belgrade comes the news that Gen. Tchernayeff has withdrawn from [illegible] and the road is open to Krushevatz. It is reported that the [illegible] Prince [illegible] of Roumania.

The Times financial article says only peace and great revival of trade can save the financial [illegible] in Austria. Even with those we doubt if the hopes of the Austrian finance minister can be realized that by 1877 the end of the period of the [illegible] will be reached.

[illegible] Oct. 21.—On the 18th and 19th inst. nothing was saleable at any price, and a crisis will happen should Gen. Ignatieff's mission take a warlike character. The crisis is worst in the southwest provinces contiguous to the possible seat of war. A conference of bank directors a few days ago at the [illegible] of the National Bank decided that they could do something to stay the [illegible]

Pesth, Oct. [illegible].—There is intense excitement here and strong [illegible] to Russia. If Russia begins war it will be difficult for Austria to preserve neutrality.

The worst criminals are regarded as [illegible] and moderate men are in disgrace. [illegible] British [illegible]

Registration in San Francisco

San Francisco, Oct. 24.—The work of revision of the supervisor of election's black list is going on rapidly, and already about half of those who had been placed on it have rectified their defective record. There is considerable suspicion of colonization in this district from Alameda. Many transfers are being made from there, which in numerous instances [illegible] attempts to find transferred parties at places they give as their residences in this city have been vain. The Republicans claim that the Democrats have given up the contest in the second district and are by means of these transfers endeavoring to carry the election for Piper.

The Call this morning says editorially the present attempt of Supervisor Holland to revise the list of votes after a fashion of his own appears upon investigation to be an egregious blunder. The legal opinion published in the Call on Sunday makes it plain that the supervisor has misconceived his duties, and it points out what those duties are. The article then goes on to give cases in which the challenge of a vote would be in order, which do not include irregularity in registration or loss of papers, and says Holland has made a gratuitous and unwarranted attack upon 1,000 voters whose right to the ballot is presumably as good as his, and pointed out a method of determining in regard to their rights which is clearly illegal.

Examination of Ex-Pension Agent Bennett.

San Francisco, Oct. 24.—The examination of H. C. Bennett, ex-pension agent, was set for 1 o'clock this afternoon before U. S. Commissioner Abeigne, but the hearing was continued for two weeks to enable Bennett's counsel to examine his accounts and papers. The warrant on which Bennett was arrested was brought from Colorado, and charges him with embezzling some $23,700 while acting as U. S. Pension Agent in this city. Bennett claims that he has vouchers, or that he left them in his office, for all the money he disbursed. He also says that the alleged deficit occurs because the government has charged up certain amounts against him while his credits at the sub-treasury had not been entered to his account. Bennett's bail to appear before commissioners has been fixed at $10,000, in default of which he will be lodged in Oakland jail.

Destructive Fire.

Gilroy, Oct. 24.—The most destructive fire that ever was known here occurred last night. The alarm was given about 10:30, and the fire proved to be in the segar factory building of the Consolidated Tobacco Co. Every effort was made to save it, but proved futile, and by 3 o'clock only the smoldering ruins remained. Beyond a doubt it was the work of an incendiary, kerosene being found freely distributed through the entire building and floors, and the goods thoroughly saturated with it. Loss $150,000; amount of insurance not known.

Marysville Races

Marysville, Oct. 24.—There was an increased attendance at the fair grounds to-day. The first race was a running half mile and repeat for a purse of $200. R. [illegible]'s horse Jordan won in two straight heats; Sweepstakes 2d and Snake 3d. Time [illegible]. The second was a pacing race between Selby's Prince and Dennison's Montague. Prince won in three straight heats. Time [illegible]

Highway Robbery.

Shasta, Oct. 21.—As the Shasta and Weaverville stage was coming down the mountain 16 miles from this place this afternoon, a highwayman suddenly jumped from behind a bush, covering Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger, John McNemer, with a shotgun before he could make any resistance, and demanded Wells, Fargo & Co.'s treasure box, which he was forced to hand over. The robber started for the bush with his booty and ordered the driver to drive on. As soon as they were out of sight of the robber McNemer jumped from the stage, ran back, got on the robber's track and followed him a short distance, where he found him taking the treasure from the box, which he had already broken open with a pick. McNemer fired at him, knocking him over. He jumped up and ran a short distance, when McNemer gave him the contents of the other barrel, killing him instantly. McNemer recovered all the treasure and brought it safely here. He left the dead robber at Tower's house, where Coroner Hartman has gone to hold an inquest.

Murdered and Robbed.

Petaluma, Oct. 24.—On Saturday night last Wm. Brown, of Chileno valley, Marin county, while returning home from Petaluma, was dragged from his carriage when within a short distance of his home, murdered and robbed of his watch and a considerable sum of money. Suspicion rested on three Spaniards who were seen with him on the night of the murder. The case was given to ex-Marshal Knowles to work up, and three Spaniards were arrested and locked up, one of whom to-day consented to show Knowles where the property was buried. The watch, chain and ring of the murdered man [illegible]. The murderers will be taken to San Rafael to-night or in the morning.

DEMOCRATIC REFORM

WHAT IT [illegible]—[illegible] IT [illegible]

Washington, D. C., Oct. [illegible], 1876.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

There are few persons who are aware to what extent the public business of the country has been crippled by the action of the last Congress. In no department has its effects been more seriously felt than in the Patent office. Our fathers in 1790 established this department, and it is therefore one year younger than the constitution, which was adopted in 1789. All patent laws now on the statute books are based on the original acts of 1790, 1793, 1800. The original act provided that applications for patents should be made to the Secretaries of State, War and the Attorney General. This was the case until 1849, when an act was passed placing the supervision of the office and the consideration of appeals in all patent cases under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior. The publication of a list of patents issued was provided for by act of 1832. The system, however, was very imperfect until 1836, when a law was enacted that an officer to be known as the commissioner of patents should be appointed, and his office be the patent office. One examiner was then appointed, and the number had increased to six in 1852. The fees as at present were regulated by the same act, and a place was provided for preserving and arranging the models of all patents, a collection which has grown into such attractive proportions as to be a feature in the visit of all strangers to the Capitol. December 15th of the same year the office was destroyed by fire with all its books and papers, one volume only having been saved. During the years from 1790 to 1823 1,81[illegible] patents were issued. In 1837 43[illegible] patents were granted, and until 1847 they did not reach to exceed 1,000 per year. The uniform fee of $30 for each patent issued was adopted in 1793, and has been but slightly increased in the last three fourths of a century. The cash received for fees in 1847 amounted to $29,289.08, and the total expenditures for clerks, &c., footed up $[illegible]. In 1875 1[illegible],288 patents were granted and the fees paid amounted to $743,453.56, while the total expenses of the office were only $721,657.71. It was the purpose of the legislators that the fees received should be sufficient to meet the expenses of the Department, and were not intended to be a source of revenue in any sense to the government. Notwithstanding this, government has received since the establishment of the patent office as a surplus or gain, which the inventors of the country have paid, the sum of $1,205,900. The patent office building has cost $2,187,700. Deducting the surplus of $1,205,900 from the total cost, and the sum of $981,791 is left as the total expenditure made by the government on account of construction. This building is occupied by the Secretary of the Interior, the Indian Commissioner, the Commissioner of the Land Office, the Commissioner of Patents, with the hundreds of clerks in the various bureaus. The business of the present year shows a large increase thus far over the last. It would seem that an interest would be manifested in a branch of the service so nearly identified with the growth and prosperity of the material progress of the country. Wise and prudent statesmen would certainly foster and encourage a department that has more than all others stamped ours as a nation standing in the front rank at the World's Centennial.

The action of the Democrats in the last house was not in accord with that idea. While the business of the Patent Office was shown to be largely on the increase, and the inventors of the country were paying the entire expense of the department, and knowing as they did that any reduction of the force was a direct attack on one of the most important business interests in the whole country, this Democratic house, under the lead of some eighty or more ex-Generals, Colonels and other commissioned officers of the late confederacy, under the rallying cry of retrenchment and reform, struck a blow at this department that so crippled it as to render it almost impossible to carry on the business. It might be well to ask who was to be reformed by refusing to make the necessary appropriations? Was it the inventors and manufacturers of the country, who pay in fees on their inventions a sum of money in the aggregate more than is necessary to pay the entire expense of the commissioner of patents and every examiner and clerk, with every expense attendant upon the transaction of the business? Was it the purpose to curb and reform the spirit of progress that has pushed our country with giant strides into the foremost position among the nations of the earth? Are we to be reformed and turned backward towards the shades of barbarism?

Standing now at the threshold of the new century, with all the cumulative wealth of experience of the past, we might suppose that we had traveled over the primal period, and believe that the slavery of ignorance and the shackles of bondage had been superseded by the dawn of a bright era, wherein the rights of every interest, individual or class, would find full protection at the hands of the legislators elected as the servants of the people. The last Congress, flaunting the Democratic banner of reform over the capitol, refused to make the needed appropriations for this department, and the business of the country is now suffering severely on that account. They also denied to the people the boon of a fast mail service. This is Democratic reform. They dismissed every one-armed and crippled soldier at the capitol and put in their places those who had fought under the Confederate flag, or had guarded the Union soldiers starving in the prison pens of the South. This too was Democratic reform. They refused the needed appropriation to pay the expense of the necessary clerical force of the departments, and 700 Union [illegible] widows and orphans—made so by the war in which each one of these reformers bore a conspicuous part—are discharged and sent out for support in [illegible] sympathy from the cold charities of the world, their only consolation now being that from the present standpoint they seem to have fought or sympathized with the wrong side. This too is Democratic reform, a [illegible] for which has been applied for by Tilden and Dorsheimer, who stand forth as brilliant representatives of Democratic retrenchment.

Tilden had no sympathy with the prosecutors of the war against his Southern brethren at its commencement, and secretly favoring his Democratic confederates in 1864 at Chicago signed a resolution declaring the war for the maintenance of the Union a failure. His action in relation to his income tax was perfectly consistent with the sentiments he had everywhere enunciated. Had every man withheld from the government the tax imposed as did this new apostle of reform, the war would truly have been a failure for the lack of means for its prosecution. Tilden is a true and genuine exponent of the party he represents.

Dorsheimer, the weathercock of the St. Louis convention, was a half hearted Republican during the war, who was only kept in line by the pabulum of a good fat office, and when [illegible] and other considerations were urged against him as unfitting him longer to hold public position under a Republican administration, he at once went to his brethren in the Democratic fold.

Reform is a delusion and a cheat. Senator Saulsbury, of Delaware, an enthusiastic Tildenite and reformer, with the help of his confederates secured an appropriation of $55,000 for building a postoffice in the little town of Dover, with less than 2,000 inhabitants. The application was made for $45,000, but the Senator's fidelity to the principles of reform as advocated by his party enabled him to raise $55,000. This too was Democratic reform.

The grand field, however, for this carnival of retrenchment is to be found in the multitude of Southern claims, the advance guard of which were introduced into the House by these ex-confederates, and now stand on the calendar of the House ready for passage. This proposed Democratic jobbery and robbery of the Treasury amounts to a sum more than equal to the national debt at the close of the war. This too is Democratic reform. Are the loyal people of this land ready to surrender the interests of this great government to a party whose record is so false to all their loud mouthed pretensions?

GOLD MOHR.

COWLITZ AND PACIFIC COUNTIES

Kalama, Oct. 21, 1876.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Having seen several articles in the Oregonian of late dates pertaining to political matters in this council district, I deem it but justice to myself to send you this article, which I hope you will have the kindness to publish at your earliest convenience.

To the voters of Cowlitz, Wahkiakum and Pacific counties: Mr. Griswold, chairman of the nominating committee of the Independent voters of Pacific county, after conference with several citizens of this place nominated me as councilman for this district, which was unsought and unexpected by me, after which I was further indorsed by an informal meeting of the citizens of this county. I am an independent candidate, am under no pledge or promise to any party or faction, and should I be elected I shall pursue an honest, upright and independent course as a legislator, giving my best energies for the good of the entire district. Having been a resident of this Territory for the past twenty-one years, my business as a surveyor of the public lands, the execution of private surveys and explorations has called me into nearly all the settled portions of this district, and I believe I have a thorough knowledge of its wants and requirements. Having had several years of experience in both branches of the Legislature, I feel confident that I can discharge the duties of the office in an intelligent and satisfactory manner. I have always been opposed to special legislation. For the prosperity of this Territory and the development of its boundless resources, capital and labor are both needed, and they must both come from other States and countries. Capital, foreign or from home. Industries should be protected and encouraged. The laborer should also be protected in all his rights, whether native or foreign born. The foreign born citizen comes here of his own choice, assumes all the duties of a citizen, is amenable to all the laws, and is as intelligent and capable of judging right as the native born citizen, and common justice demands that he should be entitled to all the privileges of citizenship.

I now leave it with you whether I shall represent you or not, and will cheerfully abide your decision.

LEWIS VAN VLIET.

THE TERRITORIES.

The roads leading into Seattle are said to be in an exceedingly bad condition.

The propeller Favorite was recently sold in Seattle at auction for $20. The purchaser got a law suit with her.

A steamtug is to be built at Seabeck as soon as the new bark gets out of the way. The same architect will design and model her with a view to speed and power.

The Forest Queen was advertised to sail for San Francisco on the 21st from Port Ludlow. Among her passengers are the two boys who were carried off from home on the last upward trip of the Gem of the Ocean.

A man from the schooner Perry, in attempting to sail from one of the sloughs to La Conner on Monday last in a skiff, was capsized and drifted about for two or three hours on the boat, when he was picked up wet and cold.

Capt. Peterson, of the bark Montana, then lying at Seattle, was fined some months ago $200 for not having his lights up after dark. As the Captain was less to blame than was at first thought, upon a proper representation of the facts to the Secretary of the Treasury three fourths (or $150) of the fine were remitted, and the Captain now has his money in the bank.

The opinion and decree of Chief Justice Lewis of Washington Territory in the Phelps-Panama case is published in full. He found that it was not for want of ordinary care on her part that she fell into the hatchway, but solely by reason of negligence on the part of the respondent. He therefore enters a decree for $5,000 damages. This does not include her physicians' and nurses' bills for loss of time and proctor's fees. The statement published that she had taken an appeal to the supreme court is a mistake. The Pacific Mail Steamship Co., however, have given notice of appeal.

Seattle, according to the directory of Messrs. Ward & Northrup, now in press, was settled first in 1852, Messrs. A. A. Denny, C. D. Boren, W. N. Bell and D. S. Maynard all coming early in the year and taking up claims on what is now the site of the city. In the Seattle of to-day the directory referred to tells us are a resident and transient population of 3,600 persons, having over 1,000 buildings, and a property valuation more than double that of 1872. In this, the first edition of the directory, will appear the names of 1015 persons, adults, the majority of whom are engaged in business in the place.

NOTICE.

I, the undersigned, would respectfully inform the voters of Pacific county that my name was placed on what is termed the Republican ticket without my knowledge or consent. I do not want the office, have no time to attend to it, and shall not serve if elected. I think the whole proceeding too badly mixed with the whisky ring and the old Buchanan Democracy to do honor to the Republican party. I shall vote for the present Judge, and should advise all true [illegible] office at present.

Only a [illegible] in the [illegible]
But every day will tell

With all the drops in the well

Only a poor little penny
It was all I had to give
But as pennies make the dollars
It may help some [illegible]

A few little bits of ribbon
And some toys [illegible]
But they made the sick child happy
Which has made me happy [illegible]

Only some outgrown garments
They were all I had to spare
But they'll help to clothe the [illegible],
And the poor are everywhere

A word now and then of comfort

But the poor [illegible] died happy
And it helped him on the way

What [illegible] He think of His children
When they never give at all?

COL. R. G. INGERSOLL.

His Great Speech at the Soldiers' Reunion in Indianapolis.

A Terrific Arraignment of the Democratic Party.

Where Some Democrats of To-day Were During the War—His Reasons for Being a Republican.

From the Indianapolis Journal's account of the Veteran reunion at that place September 20th we obtain the speech of Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll on the occasion. We reprint it entire. Col. Ingersoll said:

Ladies and Gentlemen, Fellow-citizens and Citizen Soldiers: I am opposed to the Democratic party, and I will tell you why. Every State that seceded from the United States was a Democratic State. Every ordinance of secession that was drawn was drawn by a Democrat. Every man that endeavored to tear the old flag from the heaven that it enriches was a Democrat. [A voice—Give it to them.] Every man that tried to destroy this nation was a Democrat. Every enemy this great Republic has had for the last twenty years has been a Democrat. Every man that shot Union soldiers was a Democrat. [Cheers—That's so.] Every man that starved Union soldiers and refused them in the extremity of death a crust was a Democrat. [Renewed cheering.] Every man that loved slavery better than liberty was a Democrat.

THE MAN THAT ASSASSINATED ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Was a Democrat. Every man that sympathized with the assassin—every man glad that the noblest President ever elected was assassinated, was a Democrat. Every man that wanted the privilege of whipping another man to make him work for him for nothing and pay him with lashes on his naked back, was a Democrat. [Cheers.] Every man that raised bloodhounds to pursue human beings was a Democrat. Every man that clutched from shrieking, shuddering, crouching mothers babes from their breasts and sold them into slavery, was a Democrat. [Cheers.] Every man that impaired the credit of the United States was a Democrat. Every man that swore we would never pay the bonds, every man that swore we would never redeem the greenbacks, every maligner of this country's credit, calumniator of his country's honor, was a Democrat. [Cheers.] Every man that resisted the draft, every man that hid in the bushes and shot at Union men simply because they were endeavoring to enforce the laws of their country, was a Democrat. [Cheers.] Every man that wept over the corpse of slavery was a Democrat.

EVERY MAN THAT CURSED LINCOLN

Because he issued the proclamation of emancipation—the grandest paper since the Declaration of Independence—every one of them is a Democrat. [Cheers.] Every man that denounced the soldiers that bared their bosoms to the storms of shot and shell for the honor of America and for the sacred rights of man was a Democrat. [Cheers.] Every man that wanted an uprising in the North, that wanted to release the rebel prisoners that they might burn down the homes of Union soldiers above the heads of their wives and children while the brave husbands, the heroic fathers, were in the front fighting for the honor of the old flag, every one of them was a Democrat. [Cheers.] I am not through yet. [Laughter and cheers.] Every man that believed this glorious nation of ours is a confederacy, every man that believed the old banner carried by our fathers through the Revolution, through the war of 1812, carried by our brothers over the plains of Mexico, carried by our brothers over the fields of the rebellion, simply stood for a contract, simply stood for an agreement, was a Democrat. [Cheers.] Every man who believed that any State could go out of the Union at its pleasure, every man that believed the

GRAND FABRIC OF THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

Could be made to crumble instantly into dust at the touch of treason, was a Democrat. [Cheers.] Every man that helped to burn orphan asylums in the city of New York was a Democrat; every man that tried to fire the city of New York was a Democrat, although he knew that thousands would perish, and knew that the great serpents of flame leaping from buildings would clutch children from their mothers' arms—every wretch that did it was a Democrat. [Cheers.] Recollect it! Every man that tried to spread smallpox and yellow fever in the North, as the instrumentalities of civil war, was a Democrat. Soldiers, every scar you have got on your heroic bodies was given to you by a Democrat. [Cheers.] Every scar, every arm that is lacking, every limb that is gone, every scar is a souvenir of a Democrat. [Cheers.] I want you to recollect it. [A voice—We will!] Every man that was the enemy of human liberty in this country was a Democrat. Every man that wanted the fruit of all the heroism of all the ages to turn to ashes upon the lips—every one was a Democrat. [Cheers.]

I AM A REPUBLICAN

[Laughter and cheers.] I will tell you why. This is the only free government in the world. The Republican party made it so. The Republican party took the chains from 4,000,000 of people. The Republican party, with the wand of progress, touched the auction block and it became a schoolhouse. [Cheers.] The Republican party put down the rebellion, saved the nation, kept the old banner afloat in the air, and declared that slavery of every kind should be extirpated from the face of this continent. [Cheers.] What more? I am a Republican because it is the only free party that ever existed. It is a party that has a platform as broad as the human race, a party that says you may think for yourself, a party that says no chains for the hands, no fetters for the soul. [A voice—Amen! [illegible] descend, and it looked as if a heavy shower was impending. Several umbrellas were put up. Governor Noyes—God bless you! What is rain to soldiers? Voice—Go ahead, we don't mind the rain. It was proposed to adjourn the meeting to Masonic Hall, but the motion was voted down by an overwhelming majority, and Mr. Ingersoll proceeded.]

WHY INGERSOLL IS A REPUBLICAN

I am a Republican because the Republican party says this country is a nation, and not a confederacy. I am here in Indiana to speak, and I have as good right to speak here in Indiana as though I had been born on this stand—not because the state flag of Indiana waves over me. I would not know it if I should see it. You have the same right to speak in Illinois; not because the state flag of Illinois waves over you, but because that banner, rendered sacred by the blood of all the heroes, waves over me and you. [Cheers.] I am in favor of this being a nation. Think of a man gratifying his entire ambition in the State of Rhode Island. [Laughter.] We want this to be a nation, and you can't have a great, grand, splendid people without a great, grand, splendid country. The great plains, the sublime mountains, the great rushing, roaring rivers, shores lashed by two oceans, and the grand anthem of Niagara mingle and enter as it were in the character of every American citizen, and make him or tend to make him a great and a grand character. I am for the Republican party because it says the government has as much right, as much power, to protect its citizens at home as abroad.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY

Don't say that you have to go away from home to get the protection of the government. The Democratic party says that the government can't march its troops into the South to protect the rights of the citizens. [Great cheers.] The government claims the right, and it is conceded that the government has the right to go to your house while you are sitting by your fireside with your wife and children about you, and the old lady knitting, and the cat playing with the yarn, and everybody happy and sweet—the government claims the right to go to your fireside and take you by force and put you into the army, take you down to the [illegible] of the [illegible], set you by the [illegible] guns and make you fight for your [illegible]. [illegible] Now, that being so, when [illegible] is over and the country is victorious, and you go back to your home, and a lot of Democrats want to trample upon your rights, I want to know if the government that took you from your fireside and made you fight for it, I want to know if it is not bound to fight for you. [Cheers.] The flag that will not protect its protectors is a dirty rag that contaminates the air in which it waves. The government that will not defend its defenders is a disgrace to the [illegible] world. [A voice—[illegible]] [illegible] Republican because the [illegible] party says [illegible] will protect the rights of American citizens at home, and if necessary we will [illegible]

MARCH [illegible]

To protect the [illegible] humblest American citizen in [illegible] [Cheers.]

I am a Re[illegible] Republican [illegible] free allows [illegible] own thinking in his own way. [Cheers.] I am a Republican because it is a party grand enough and [illegible] enough to invite every human being in favor of liberty and progress to fight shoulder to shoulder for the advancement of mankind. [Cheers.] It invites the Methodist, it invites the Catholic, it invites the Presbyterian and every kind of [illegible]. It invites the free-thinker; it invites the [illegible], provided he is in favor of giving to every other human being every chance and every right he claims for himself. [Cheers.] I am a Republican, I tell you. [Laughter.] There is room in the Republican air for every wing; there is room on the Republican sea for every sail. Republicanism says to every man: "Let your soul be like an eagle; fly out in the great dome of thought, and question for yourself." [Cheers—"That's so."] [illegible] Democratic party says, "Be [illegible] on the dry limb of a dead tree, and only fly when Tilden & Co. tell you to." [illegible] In the Republican party there are no followers. We are all leaders. [illegible] not a party chain. There is not a party [illegible]

ANY MAN THAT DOES NOT LOVE LIBERTY

Any man that does not love liberty, any man that is not in favor of human progress, that is not in favor of giving to others all he claims for himself—we don't ask him to vote the Republican ticket. [Cheers.] You can vote as you please, [illegible] in bearing [illegible] election, [illegible] one Republican [illegible] upon his death bed. [Great laughter.] [illegible] more? I am a Republican because it believes in free labor. [illegible] labor will give [illegible] thought. [illegible] will give [illegible] You don't [illegible] long to. [illegible] of nobility [illegible] can party [illegible] man. [illegible] believes in free labor. [illegible] also believes in slavery. [illegible] In enslaving the [illegible] that free labor, that free thought [illegible] slaved the forces of nature [illegible] work for men. We make [illegible] Gravitation work for us; we [illegible] ning do our errands; we [illegible] mer and fashion what we need [illegible] of nature are the slaves of the [illegible] party. [Cheers.] They have got [illegible]

[illegible]

They have got no [illegible] to be [illegible] their wives [illegible] bosoms of [illegible] and day, [illegible] not whip them, you [illegible] and a Democrat even can [illegible] of them. [Laughter.] I [illegible] publican [illegible] you, that free labor [illegible] Free labor [illegible] everything you have got [illegible] duced by free labor, nothing [illegible] Slavery never invented but [illegible] that was a [illegible] a whip. [Laughter.] [illegible] all the machines [illegible] the philosophy of these things [illegible] of free labor, when a man [illegible] he loves, when he works for [illegible] he adores—the problem [illegible] work in the shortest space of time [illegible] lem of slavery is to do the [illegible] longest space of time. That [illegible] Free labor, love [illegible] everything [illegible] am a Republican [illegible] world is getting better [illegible] Democratic party is getting [illegible] See [illegible]

THE [illegible]

In a few years, see what we have done. We have covered this [illegible] with [illegible] glory, and with [illegible] the [illegible] government in the world. The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCT. 25, 1876.

THE GRAND MATERIALIZATION SCENE THIS EVENING.

It is rather a novel thing for a political party to go into the show business, as a part of its plan of a campaign. We are not prepared to say, however, that it is a bad idea. As an experiment it is well enough, and may be given up if it does not work satisfactorily. And since the Democratic party has concluded to attach itself to a show, we congratulate its managers on their good judgment and good fortune, in choosing, and being permitted to attach themselves to, so meritorious and successful an entertainment as The Royal Oriental Marionettes. Announcement is made of the appearance of Gen. Jo. Lane this evening, in connection with a grand transformation scene, by the Marionettes. The scene, if we are correctly informed, is to be a "materialization," after the manner of Katie King, of Gen. Lane, whose lifeless body lay directly in the line of march taken by the soldiers of the Union, when they invaded the sacred soil of Virginia, some fifteen years ago. It will do the eyes of the people of Oregon good for many a day, to look once more upon the familiar form of the old hero who died in defense of the divine right of the white man to tear the husband from the wife, the wife from the husband, and the prattling babe from the arms of its mother, and sell them on the auction block like cattle.

Although this going into the show business will be interpreted by some as an [illegible] that Democracy are in that condition which Shenstone called flocci-nauci-nihili-pilification, and which would be described by modern divines as a "perturbed state of mind," still the people will turn out numerously to witness the promised "materialization," and, to adopt the peculiar locution of our worthy city superintendent of schools, will "take a deal of interest" in it.

IS ANYTHING TO BE DONE?

It is now but two weeks to the election. Not a moment of that time should be lost by the Republicans. It is idle to conceal that the Republican candidates are likely to need all the Republican votes in Oregon. The State is close on a party vote, and the importance of this election to the hungry Democracy will bring them out almost to a man. If there is a full vote on both sides, we feel confident of a majority in the State for Hayes and Wheeler and for Richard Williams. But if a few at this point and a few at that point, neglect to vote, the victory to which we are justly entitled we may fail to achieve. Three or four hundred stay-at-homes may be enough to defeat our candidates. We hope the margin in favor of the party of liberty, equality, sound currency and national progress may prove broader than that, but certainly it is not so broad as to warrant Republicans in waiting supinely for the victory to come to them unsought. Every precinct should be canvassed; every town should be the seat of an active local organization. The OREGONIAN urged this upon the managers long ago, and, though it is late now, it is not too late to make a vigorous home run. Little has been done yet, compared with what ought to have been done; but the organizations in the principal towns of the State may, with a little vigorous endeavor by the State Central Committee, be made the basis of a thorough organization in the smaller towns and villages.

Speeches turn but few if any voters from one party to the other, but they serve to awaken public interest and bring out the voters on election day. They set people to work. They excite in the popular mind a sense of the duty of the hour. This is just what is needed now. There should be public speaking, not in a few of the principal towns alone, but in all the small towns. Speakers should be sent by the Central Committee to all points. There are gentlemen all through the State fully competent to discuss the questions of the day, and who would readily consent to make one or more speeches each at convenient points, if requested and announced by the committee; but they do not wish to invite themselves. Gentlemen having a delicate sense of propriety hesitate either to announce themselves unasked, or to set some one to working up invitations for them. For a month past a brisk canvass has been going on in the State of California, every part of the State being visited by speakers under the auspices of the State Central Committee, by whom they were sent and announced. The same thing should have been done here. It should be done yet, as far as possible. A few speakings at the main centers of population, along the lines of railway and water transportation, are not such a backing to the joint discussion by candidates as the case requires; not such a backing as the candidates had a right to expect at the hands of those to whom the party has intrusted the management of the campaign. If the committee really wish to see Williams elected, if they really wish Oregon to cast her electoral vote for Hayes and Wheeler, civil service reform, honest government, and the enforcement of the equal rights of every citizen, it is time they were bestirring themselves to accomplish that result. We have called on them before; we call on them again.

We call attention to the great speech of Col. Ingersoll which we publish this morning. It will be easy to understand after reading this speech how it is that wherever he goes he sets the hearts of the people all afire. No audience could withstand the impetuous torrent of his eloquence. Argument, invective, ridicule are launched at the Bourbon reactionists with a force that is irresistible, and all the tenderest sentiments of the human breast are pressed into the service of the cause he champions. Every Republican should read it for the strength and inspiration it will give him; every Democrat should read it to see his party as other see it. [illegible] too much of the bloody shirt in [illegible] the taste of one, too little of reform [illegible] of another, but there is [illegible] of the grand, supreme [illegible] question of human [illegible] must revive afresh the old enthusiasm in the breasts that stirred with sympathy with the oppressed and indignation toward the oppressor in the days of Democratic misrule.

The Chicago Times has been figuring on the probable result of the Presidential election, and publishes the result of its speculations in the form of a tabular statement of the electoral vote. By this table it is made to appear that Tilden will receive 205 votes—20 more than the number necessary to elect. The Times is an earnest supporter of Tilden, and its estimates are manifestly colored by its preferences. In order to make up the 205 votes which it counts for Tilden it puts in his column Oregon, California, Indiana, New York and New Jersey, some of which are far more likely to go Republican, and the rest of which are doubtful. These States have, in the aggregate, 68 electoral votes. If Tilden lose 11 out of the 68 Hayes will be elected. Is not that rather a discouraging outlook for the Democratic seeker after the flesh-pots?

THE GAMBLING LAW.

Since the new law for the prevention and punishment of gambling has gone into effect, there has been a great deal of public inquiry elicited as to the exact provisions of the act. For the benefit of the general public we publish the law in its entirety.

AN ACT to prevent and punish gambling.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon: Sec. 1. Each and every person who shall deal, play or carry on, open or cause to be opened, or who shall conduct, either as owner, proprietor or employe, whether for hire or not, any game of faro, monte, roulette, rouge et noir, lansquenette, rondo, vigne une, (or twenty one,) poker, draw poker, brag, bluff, thaw, or any banking or any other game played with cards, dice or any other device, whether the same be played for money, checks, credits, or any other representative of value, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, ($500) and shall be imprisoned in the county jail until such fine and costs are paid, Provided, that such person so convicted, shall be imprisoned one day for every two dollars of such fine and costs, and, provided further, that such imprisonment shall not exceed one year.

Sec. 2. All notes, bills, bonds, mortgages, or other securities or other conveyances, the consideration for which shall be money or other thing of value won by playing at any of said games, shall be void and of no effect, as between the parties to the same and all other persons, except holders in good faith, without notice of the illegality of such contract or conveyance.

Sec. 3. All persons losing money or anything of value at or on any of said games, shall have a cause of action to recover from the dealer or player winning the same, or proprietor for whose benefit such game was played or dealt, or such money or thing of value won, twice the amount of the money, or double the value of the thing so lost.

Sec. 4. All persons who shall let or rent any house, room, shop, or other building whatsoever, or any boat, booth, garden, or other place, knowing that the same will be used for gambling purposes, or having reason to believe that such building or other place above mentioned will be so used, shall forfeit twice the amount of the rent of such building or other place aforesaid for six months, to be recovered by action at law, instituted by the district attorney in the name of the State. All contracts for the rent of the rooms, buildings or places aforesaid, for the purposes aforesaid, shall be void and of no effect between the parties.

Sec. 5. It shall be lawful for any person letting or renting any house, room, shop or other building whatsoever, or any boat, booth, garden or other place which shall at any time be used by the lessee or occupant thereof, or any other person, with his knowledge or consent, for gambling purposes, upon discovery thereof, to avoid and terminate such lease or contract of occupancy, and to recover the immediate possession of said boat, building, or other place above mentioned, by an action at law for that purpose, to be brought before any justice of the peace of the county in which such use shall be permitted.

Sec. 6. Any person who shall suffer or permit any of the acts or things forbidden by or made punishable by this act to be done or carried on in any house, room or shop or other building whatsoever, or any boat, booth, garden or other place of which he is the owner, or to the possession of which he is entitled, under this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the county jail until such fine is paid, at the rate of two dollars per day.

Sec. 7. It shall be the especial duty of each district attorney, sheriff, constable, city or town marshal and police officer, to inform against and diligently prosecute any and all persons whom they shall have reasonable cause to believe guilty of a violation of the provisions of this act.

Sec. 8. Any officer named in the preceding section who shall refuse or wilfully neglect to inform against and prosecute offenders against this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars, and the court before which such officer shall be tried shall declare the office or appointment held by such officer vacant for the balance of his term.

Sec. 9. No person otherwise competent as a witness under the laws of the State shall be disqualified from testifying as such concerning the offenses mentioned in this act on the ground that his testimony may criminate himself. Such testimony shall be reduced to writing, and no indictment or prosecution shall afterwards be brought against him for the particular offense concerning which he testified as a witness.

Sec. 10. If any person who shall have been summoned as a witness on the part of the prosecution shall fail or refuse to attend at the time fixed for trial without a reasonable excuse, the person so failing or neglecting shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than twenty five days nor more than three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 11. All fines and forfeitures under the provisions of this act shall be recovered by an action at law to be brought in the name of the State of Oregon, and all such fines and forfeitures, except costs, shall be paid into the county treasury and constitute a part of the school fund.

Sec. 12. Chapter nine (IX) of title two (II) of the general laws of Oregon, (as compiled under the provisions of an act approved October 22, 1872), entitled "An act to Prevent and Punish Gambling," approved October 28 1868, is hereby repealed.

Sec. 13. Inasmuch as there is no sufficient law now in force for the prevention and punishment of gambling, this act shall take effect and be in force from and after its approval by the Governor.

Approved Oct. 20, 1876.

Emaciation a Remediable Defect.

Leanness not only detracts from personal comeliness, but is an index that the blood is deficient in nutritive properties. To remedy emaciation, enrich and purify the blood which will then develop healthy flesh. This object is most readily attained through the agency of the great blood fertilizer and depurent, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which enables the stomach to extract from the food taken into it ample nourishment for the system, removes all obstacles to complete digestion and assimilation and by stimulating the kidneys to vigorous action incites those organs to strain from the vital fluid in its passage through them impurities which would otherwise impair its flesh creating qualities. Not only do the Bitters promote the development of solid fiber, but they also increase muscular power and elasticity, overcome nervousness, banish mental depression, and protect the system against disease.

[illegible] THEORIES.

[illegible] I have given you a few [illegible] I have given you a few [illegible] a Democrat. Let me say [illegible] the Democratic party opposed [illegible] the army of the [illegible] Don't be fooled. Imagine the [illegible] that you can think of—that is [illegible] the Democratic party passed [illegible] you can think of—that [illegible] I want you to recollect that [illegible] party did the [illegible] trembling in the [illegible] want you to recollect [illegible] hard times [illegible] the hard times [A [illegible] That every dollar we owe [illegible] the Southern and Northern [illegible] every dollar"] [illegible] to put down the rebellion [illegible] money, and the Democratic par[illegible] of the world and [illegible] OF THE UNITED STATES.

[illegible] They slandered, they lied, [illegible] United States, and [illegible] this that at one time [illegible] paper was only worth about thirty [illegible] dollar, gold went up to $2 90 [illegible] greenbacks [illegible] cents on the dollar. What [illegible] thirty-six cents? They were [illegible] the greenback, they were slandered out [illegible] maligned out of the [illegible] Democratic party of the North [illegible] the debt [illegible] shoulders [illegible] were placed there by the [illegible] North and [illegible] Democratic party of the [illegible] pay your taxes keep an ac[illegible] Northern De[illegible] Democracy [illegible] the money to pay [illegible] your hands to [illegible] and under [illegible] find [illegible] LIE.

[illegible] party did all the [illegible] the fate of [illegible] arbitrament of the [illegible] things when your [illegible] your brothers your chival[illegible] suffering upon the [illegible] shell were crash[illegible] where they were ly[illegible] of battle, the blood [illegible] mangled limbs of [illegible] in the hospitals of [illegible] of home and seeing [illegible] they loved, when they [illegible] south with no cov[illegible] except the frozen [illegible] had refused to [illegible] death. He [illegible] I wanted there [illegible] which I might [illegible] sentences like [illegible] and fanned [illegible] I could then [illegible] all over of the South

[illegible] NOW

[illegible] The first [illegible] this country, rule it" [illegible] the men who saved [illegible] "Yes, yes."] Shall [illegible] said it? [Cries [illegible] the rebels walk her [illegible] and sink it? [Cries of [illegible] Shall a solid [illegible] and [illegible] the shotgun, shall a [illegible] a divided North, [illegible] splendid country? [illegible] then, the North [illegible] "We will, we will."] [illegible] This is [illegible] of the war. This is the war [illegible] the war of the musket [illegible] of cannon, this is the war [illegible] to meet them in this [illegible] The question is [illegible] and to destroy this [illegible] "Never, never"] Shall [illegible] a nation, have charge [illegible] "Never, never"]

[illegible] QUESTION:

[illegible] [Cries of Yes yes, [illegible] to borrow some money [illegible] Democrats within [illegible] along with a few less [illegible] with any less coun[illegible] money and the quan[illegible] And which party is the [illegible] Republican party, that made [illegible] it was constitutional [illegible] it was unconstitutional? [illegible] greenback the green [illegible] "I am one of the fel[illegible] you" [Laughter] Whenever [illegible] greenback, the greenback says [illegible] put down the rebellion and [illegible] [Laughter] Now my friends [illegible] great deal about finances [illegible] talk about it gets as dry—as [illegible] in the final home of the [illegible] for forty years. [Great laughter] [illegible] about finances [A voice. [illegible] In the first place the govern[illegible] people, the people support [illegible] "That's it. The gov[illegible] that, the government [illegible] True enough, it has a [illegible] but it is a perpetual, chronic [illegible] and [illegible] the almighty and [illegible] there—except Tilden [Great [illegible] government is a perpetual con[illegible] government don't [illegible] the government don't raise corn and [illegible] government is simply perpetual con[illegible]

[illegible] THE GOVERNMENT

[illegible] Now the idea that the government [illegible] for you and I to live on—why it [illegible] hired man should issue [illegible] him for me to [illegible] [Laughter and applause] Some people [illegible] can impress its sov[illegible] piece of paper and that is money [illegible] making one[illegible] ink and no more [illegible] bills? Why not make [illegible] be billionaires [Great [illegible] the government can make money [illegible] taxes from you and [illegible] to what money it wants, [illegible] and give the balance to us" [illegible] suppose the govern[illegible] to-morrow, how would you [illegible] "Steal [it"] I was not [illegible] You would [illegible] something to exchange for [illegible] would not go around and give [illegible] you have to dig [illegible] where it comes from [illegible] men who thought [illegible] to turn the baser metals [illegible] gray-haired men, trembling [illegible] of the grave were hunting [illegible] ordinary metals into gold [illegible] for the fountain of eternal [illegible] No human ear has [illegible] of the opening of immor[illegible] be mechanics that tried [illegible] by a combination of [illegible] rolling balls but some[illegible] never got to run

[illegible] OF GREENBACKS

[illegible] just as foolish as a foun[illegible] idea that you can [illegible] is just as foolish as the [illegible] They are all follies under [illegible] you another thing. The [illegible] that you can fail to keep [illegible] is as good as though you [illegible] you can stamp the sover[illegible] upon paper. The other [illegible] bearing the sovereign [illegible] Julius Caesar has been dust [illegible] years, but that piece of silver [illegible] as though Julius Caesar was [illegible] legions. Was it his sov[illegible] valuable? Suppose he had [illegible] piece of paper—it would have been [illegible] than a Democratic promise. Another [illegible] this debt will be paid you need [illegible] The Democrats ought to pay [illegible] they

[illegible] PAY THE COSTS.

[illegible] But we are willing to [illegible] be paid. The holders of [illegible] on a continent. They [illegible] honor of the Republican [illegible] Every blade of grass [illegible] continent is a guarantee that [illegible] every field of bannered corn [illegible] vest is a guarantee that the [illegible] all the coal put away in the [illegible] too much years ago, by that old miner [illegible] that every dollar of that debt [illegible] the taste of [illegible] on the prairies, pastures [illegible] the idea of [illegible] there is a guarantee that [illegible] pine standing in the [illegible] of [illegible] waiting for the wood[illegible] that this debt will be paid, [illegible] in the [illegible] that [illegible]

and every good woman and every man that votes the Republican ticket is a guarantee that the debt will be paid [Applause]

[illegible]

[illegible] The next [illegible] will [illegible] the South [illegible] it is a crime in [illegible] It is a [illegible] Southern [illegible] country [illegible] we have suffered enough [illegible] [illegible] Worse than that [illegible] can [illegible] country [illegible] at steals from [illegible] years [illegible] years [illegible] the rural [illegible] forty year children [illegible] from their [illegible] sisters [illegible] a single [illegible] West [illegible]

[illegible]

When [illegible] will treat our friends [illegible] When they will [illegible] American when they are in favor [illegible] can citizen to have his rights—then we are their friends. We are willing to be friends of the nation. We nation when they are [illegible] with liberty when they are willing to trust. We are willing to trust them believe in them [illegible] when they cease to [illegible] the with the bl[illegible] masked wretches [illegible] the darkness of night—[illegible] the free man and notwithstanding the [illegible] of his family shoot him down when they cease to consider the massacre of Hamburg as a Democratic triumph then, I say we will be their friends and not before [A voice — That is the idea]

Now my friends thousands of the Southern people and thousands of the Southern Democrats are afraid that the [illegible] to pass them in the race of life. And [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] a sense of [illegible] will pass [illegible] I am for giving every man a chance. [illegible] that can pass me is welcome [A voice—There can't many do it] I believe my friend is that

THE INTELLECTUAL DOMAIN OF THE FUTURE

I like the land used to be in the state of Illinois, is open to preemption. The fellow that gets a fact first that is his, that gets an idea first, that is his. Every round in the ladder of fame from the one that touches the ground to the last one that leans against the shining summit of human ambition belongs to the foot that gets upon it first. [Applause] Mr Democrat (I point down because they are nearly all on the first round of the ladder) if you can't climb stand on one side and let the deserving negro pass.

Supposing there was a great horse race here to day free to every horse in the world and to all the mules, and to all the scrubs and all the donkeys. At the tap of the drum they come to the line and the judges say "It is a go." Let me ask you what does the blooded horse, rushing ahead with nostrils distended drinking in the breath of his own swiftness with his mane flying like a banner of victory with his veins standing out all over him as if a net of life had been cast around him—with his thin neck his high withers his tremendous flanks—what does he care how many mules and donkeys run on that track " [Prolonged and deafening laughter] But the Democratic scrub with his chuckle head and lop ears with his tail full of cuckle burs jumping high and short and digging in the ground when he feels the breath of the coming mule on [illegible] that jumps the track and [illegible] I am down on mule equality. [Renewed and uproarious laughter]

DEMOCRACY AND REPUBLICANISM COMPARED

My friends the Republican party is the blooded horse in this race [A voice— Anything may follow that wants to" Laughter] I stood a little while ago in the city of Paris where stood the Bastile where now stands the Column of July surmounted by the figure of liberty. In its right hand is a broken chain in its left hand a banner upon its shining forehead a glittering star—and as I looked upon it I said such is the Republican party of my country

The other day going along the road I came to the place where the road had been changed but the guide board was as they had put it twenty years before. It pointed diligently in the direction of a desolate field. Now that guide post had been there twenty years. Thousands of people passed but nobody heeded the hand on the guide post, and it stuck there through storm and shine, and it pointed as hard as ever as if the road was through the desolate field, and I said to myself "Such is the Democratic party of the United States. [Laughter and applause

The other day I came to a river where there had been a mill a part of it was there yet. An old sign said "Cash for wheat. [Laughter] The old water wheel was broken, it had been warped by the sun, cracked and split by many winds and storms. There hadn't been a grain of wheat ground there for twenty years. There was nothing in good order but the dam, it was as good a dam as I ever saw and I said to myself

"SUCH IS THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY"

[Renewed laughter] I was going along the road the other day, when I came to where there had once been a hotel. But the hotel and barn had burned down, nothing remained there but the two chimneys monuments of the disaster. In the road there was an old sign upon which there was these words "Entertainment for man and beast " The word "man" was nearly burned out. There hadn't been a hotel there for thirty years. That sign had swung and creaked in the wind, the snow had fallen upon it in the winter; the birds had sung upon it in the summer. Nobody ever stopped at that hotel; but the sign stuck to it, and kept swearing to it, "Entertainment for man and beast " and I said to myself, "Such is the Democratic party of the United States" [Laughter and applause]. And I further said, "One chimney ought to be called Tilden and the other Hendricks. [Renewed and continued cheering and laughter]

THE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES.

Now my friends, both of these parties have candidates. The Democratic party trots out Samuel J Tilden. Who is he? He is a man that advertises his honesty and reform the same as people advertise the quack medicines. In every Democratic paper in the United States he has advertisements of his honesty and reform.

Samuel J Tilden is an attorney; a legal spider that weaves webs of technicalities and catches in its meshes honest incorporated flies. He has stood on the shores of bankruptcy and clutched the drowning by the throat. Samuel J Tilden is a demurrer that the Confederate Congress has filed against the amendments of the constitution of the United States. Samuel J Tilden is an old bachelor. In a country depending upon the increase of its population for its glory and honor [cheers and laughter], to elect an old bachelor is a suicidal policy. [Renewed and prolonged laughter] Think of a man surrounded by beautiful women dimpled cheeks, coral lips pearly teeth, shining eyes, think of a man throwing them all away for the embrace of the Democratic party [Laughter]. Such a man does not even know the value of time [Laughter]

SAMUEL J TILDEN

Belongs to the Democratic party of the city of New York. That party never had but two objects—grand and petty larceny. [Laughter] They rarely elect a man to office except for a crime committed. They don't elect on a crime credit. It must be a crime accomplished. They have stolen everything they could lay their hands on, and my God, what hands! When they had stolen all the people could pay interest on they clapped their enormous hands upon their spacious pockets and shouted for honesty and reform. Samuel J Tilden has been a pupil in that school. He has been a teacher in that school. He was reared in Tammany Hall which bears the same relation to a penitentiary as a Sunday school to the church. [Applause] More than this when the rebellion began they called a meeting at Union square in the city of New York. It was of great importance how the city of New York should go. No man refused to sign that petition in the city of New York but one and that man was Samuel J Tilden. A man that will not lend his name to save his country never should be the President of that country. You offered to give your lives, and

HE WOULD NOT GIVE HIS INFAMOUS NAME

Samuel J Tilden said in 1860 61, "Our fathers left revolution organized in every State so that whenever the public opinion of a State demands it the state can snap the tie of confederation that binds it to the nation the same as a nation can break a treaty and a State can repel coercion the same as a nation can repel invasion." No one ought to be President who thinks this nation is a confederacy. No man ought to be President who has said this war is an outrage. [A voice—"And he never will be."] [illegible] If you have an empty sleeve hide it. If you have crutches, throw them away. If you fought for the flag don't mention it.

On the other side we are running for the Presidency Rutherford B Hayes of Ohio. [Tremendous applause] Rutherford B Hayes is an honest man. [Renewed applause] Now some Democrats will say that isn't anything. Now you try it. [Laughter and cheering] Rutherford B. Hayes is a sincere man. He says what he means and he means what he says. More than that he says all he means and he means all he says. When the war commenced Rutherford B Hayes said "I would go into the war if I knew I would be killed rather than live through it and take no part in it. [Search all the patriotic records of the world and you will find no nobler words than that noble saying of Rutherford B Hayes. When Tilden refused to give his name Hayes offered to give his heart. Hayes is a man of learning a man of talent of firmness. I do not say obstinacy I say firmness. Do you know the difference between obstinacy and firmness? A firm man is a man that stands up for the right because it is right. An obstinate man is a man that wants his own way right or wrong.

HAYES IS A FIRM MAN.

In the war he received many wounds in his flesh but not a scratch on his honor. Tilden received wound after wound in his honor but not a scratch in his flesh. Rutherford B Hayes is a man of spotless character—a character which rests upon a record not upon a prospectus. [Applause] Good character rests on what you have done not on what you say you are going to do. Good character rests up on a fulfillment and not upon a promise. It rests on a specie basis. Into that grand ed fice that you call character goes every good and splendid deed of your life. Hayes has built himself a noble character. You can't build a good character in a day. If you could get a good one in a day, the whole Democratic party would have one to-morrow. [Laughter] You can't do it. [Renewed laughter and applause.] Hayes to-day has a perfect character and that character rises before the American people to-day like a faultless edifice domed with honor and pinnacled with patriotism. [Applause] I will tell you another thing. Hayes will be the next President of the United States. [Renewed and protracted applause] Rutherford B Hayes carries at his belt three political scalps—one of Thurman, one of Pendleton and one of Rise up William Allen. [Laughter] Next November he will have another scalp at that belt. [Laughter and [illegible]] If Mr. Tilden will feel the top of his head he will have a [illegible] [illegible] of who fur[illegible]

[illegible]

I want you to swear you will not vote for a man who opposed putting down the rebellion. I want you to swear that you will not vote for a man [illegible] [illegible] proclamation of emancipation. I want you to swear that you will not vote for a man opposed to the abolition of slavery. I want you to swear that you will never vote for a man who called the soldiers in the field [illegible] hirelings. I want you to swear that you will not vote for a man who denounced Lincoln as a tyrant. I want you to swear that you will not vote for any enemy of human progress. [illegible] Democrat [illegible] talk [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] all the mean things his party ever did. Tell him kindly [illegible] [Applause] [illegible] never was [illegible] election than the one you are [illegible] [illegible] every one [illegible] will vote for [illegible] [Applause] [illegible] we must stand by the country. [illegible] It permits [illegible] free. It is the only country in the world where labor is respected. Let us support it. It is the only country in the world where the useful man is the only aristocrat. The man that works for a dollar a day goes home at night to his little ones takes his little boy on his knee and he thinks that boy can achieve anything that the son of the wealthiest man can achieve. The free school is open to him. He may be the richest the greatest and grandest, and that thought sweetens every drop of sweat that rolls down the honest face of toil. [Applause] Vote to save that country.

PROMISE FOR THE FUTURE [illegible] REPUBLICAN RULE

My friends this country is getting better every day. Samuel J Tilden says we are a nation of thieves and rascals. If that is so he ought to be President. [illegible] him as a calumniator of my country, a maligner of this nation. It isn't so. This country is covered with asylums for the aged the helpless the insane the orphan wounded soldiers. Thieves and rascals don't build such things. In the cities of the Atlantic coast this summer they built floating hospitals great ships and took the little children from the sub cellars and narrow dirty streets of New York where the Democratic party is the strongest [laughter]—took those poor waifs and put them in these great hospitals out at sea and let the breezes of ocean kiss the roses of health back to their pallid cheeks. Rascals and thieves do not do this. When Chicago burned railroads were blockaded with the charity of the American people. This is an honest people. [illegible] I am a Republican. [Laughter and applause]

THE WORLD IS GETTING BETTER

Husbands are treating their wives better than they used to; wives are treating their husbands better; children are better treated than they used to be; the old whips and gads are out of the schools and they are governing children by love and by sense. The world is getting better. It is getting better in Maine [Laughter and applause] It has got better in Maine. In Vermont, it is getting better in every State of the North and I tell you we are going to elect Hayes and Wheeler and the world will then be better still. I have a dream that this world is growing better and better every day and every year, that there is more charity more justice more love every day. I have a dream that prisons will not always curse the earth; that the shadow of the gallows will not always fall on the land; that the withered hand of want will not always be stretched out for charity; that finally wisdom will sit in the legislatures, justice in the courts, charity will occupy all the pulpits, and that finally the world will be controlled by liberty and love by justice and charity. That is my dream and if it does not come true it shall not be my fault. Good by [Immense and prolonged cheering]
